$12,500 QUOTA GIVEN FAYETTE

Officials Determine County's Share in Third Red Cross Drive at Meeting Here Tuesday

CAMPAIGN IN NOVEMBER

Fayette county's quota in the third Red Cross drive, which will be held November 1 to 11, will be $12,500. This announcement was made Tuesday morning by John R. Downing, state manager of the Red Cross in Kentucky, following a conference in his offices with other state officials of the organization.

Kentucky's quota has been placed at $200,000, which amount officials believe can be raised without any difficulty.

The conference held Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock was attended by McKenzie Todd, campaign manager of the Lake Division of the Red Cross, with offices in Cleveland; R. C. Thruston Ballard, of Louisville, state director; John R. Downing, state manager; S. W. Calder, assistant state manager; Miss Lydia Halford, of Louisville; Miss J. Wall, of Cleveland, and F. R. Cann, of Kentucky headquarters.

State Quota Discussed.

During the conference the quota for the state was discussed and the apportionment of it between the counties was also taken up. Fayette county's quota will be raised with no difficulty, according to officials.

The campaign which will be opened in November by the Red Cross will be nation-wide, and it is planned to raise approximately $15,000,000 to be used to continue Red Cross work among soldiers, sailors and marines still abroad in camps. Civilians in devastated countries will also be aided by the organization, according to present plans.

At the same time the campaign for funds to continue this work is being waged the organization will carry on a membership campaign. Membership will cost $1, as it has in all previous campaigns, and no limit has been set as to the number of members to be secured by the organization.

Lake Division Quota.

The quota for the Lake Division has been fixed at $1,550,000.

The Lake Division consists of Kentucky, Indiana and Tennessee, and in all previous campaigns it has always reported a heavy oversubscription.

A general discussion of the condition of the campaign was had during the conference Tuesday, though no definite plans were arranged. These will be worked out shortly. Mr. Todd and others who will attend the conference left early Tuesday afternoon for Louisville.

Meeting in extraordinary session at the call of Vice-Mayor W. H. McCorkle, acting mayor during the illness of Mayor Rogers, the City Commissioners passed the $500,000 City Hall and Auditorium bond issue ordinance Tuesday.

The ordinance, as passed, provides for submission to the voters of Lexington the proposition of incurring an indebtedness of $500,000 for the erection of a City Hall building. The question will go before the people in November at the municipal election to be held on the fourth day of that month. Commissioners Bradley, Dunlap and Duffeby and Vice Mayor McCorkle enforced this bond issue ordinance with practically the same words they used in speaking of those passed recently.

Another ordinance passed at the special session provides for the purchase of an option by the city of a stable on Vine street belonging to E. D. Ellis and Thomas Smith.

Japan Wants City Park Reports of Past 10 Years

Note Received by Commissioner Dunlap Asks Place on Mailing List

Japan wants the park reports of Lexington for the last ten years and wants to be put on the mailing list for future reports.

From the country across the Pacific this request reached Commissioner of Public Property Wood G. Dunlap Tuesday. Reports submitted by Commissioner James T. McCarty for 1914 and 1915 and by Commissioner Dunlap for 1918 will be forwarded to Japan. No official report was made by the Commissioner of Public Property for 1916 and 1917, according to Commissioner Dunlap.

The request for the park reports comes in the form of a note, presumably not from official Japan, since the script is on a piece of paper apparently torn from a notebook. It is addressed to the Park Superintendent, Board of Parks, Lexington, Ky. The text is as follows:

"Please send me your annual report for 1910 to 1918. Please place my name on your mailing list for continuous forward."

The note is signed by Moyamo-Sanroo, or some one with a similar name. The address seems to be No. 21 Fugisawa, Iruma-Gun, Saitama, Japan. This note was sent to the Department of the Interior from Japan. It was forwarded here.

The District of Columbia also wants reports of Lexington park commissioners. Commissioner Dunlap coincidentally received a request Tuesday from Susie Root Rhodes, supervisor of playgrounds, Washington, D. C., for the last annual report of playgrounds in Lexington.

Valuable Oil Holdings Transferred Tuesday

Through a deed filed in the county clerk's office Tuesday by E. A. Ralston to William Frimbley, attorney for the Northwestern Oil Company, the Northwestern company obtained a third interest in all oil activities on four leases in Morgan county on the North Fork of the Licking River. The leases number three and consisted of approximately 2,100 acres. They were obtained by Ralston from the Clearfield Lumber Company of Camden, N. J. The price paid for the interest in the leases, which it is understood have as yet not been developed, approximated about $3,600.

Six and a half acres on the Maysville pike three and a half miles from Lexington have been purchased by Norman and Virgie V. Huffman from D. J. and Jessie M. Urier. Deed to the property was filed Tuesday. The price paid was approximately $3,500.

Other deeds and transfers filed Tuesday are as follows:

Emma D. and Harry W. Fairber to Dr. J. T. Slaton, lot 22 in Montelle Park subdivision, $6,000.

Hattie V. and C. A. Wheatley to Juliette English, lot on Franklin avenue beginning 225 feet from Walton avenue, $3,000.

Lewis U. and Ada Jennings to C. W. Way, lot beginning thirty-five feet from southeast corner of Rose street and Columbia avenue and extending 130 feet in an easterly direction, $1,500.

Union Bank and Trust Company, executor and trustee under the will of Milton Young, to Elsie R. Coleman, party of the second part and Lucy S. Young, party of the third part, lot on northeast side of Third street between Broadway and Hampton Court, $4,000.

Joseph J. and Matilda H. Hancock to Mona Oden, lot 40 on east side of Montello Park, $5,000.

EPISCOPALIANS PLAN CAMPAIGN

Drive for Quota of Sewanee Endowment Fund Will Be Launched Soon in Kentucky Diocese

HOLD MEETINGS TODAY

The address of the Rev. J. R. Noe, of Atlanta, Ga., telling of the problems and work which confronts the church if it is to accomplish its plans in working for good among present conditions of life and what must be done to meet the demands and expansion of the future, was the feature of the night session of the Episcopal Diocese which began its full convocation in the parish house of Christ Church Cathedral Tuesday morning.

The convocation will continue through Wednesday. The annual meeting of the Woman's Auxiliary will also be held on Wednesday. Bishop Lewis W. Burton will preside over the conference.

Discuss Sewanee.

During the Tuesday afternoon session a discussion of the University of the South, Sewanee, Tenn., and the endowment fund which is to be raised in a campaign to be held soon, was had. Among those who discussed the school were S. L. Postlewaite, of Washington, D. C., and Major McKellar, of the faculty of Sewanee.

Representatives from practically every church of the diocese, which includes all of central and eastern Kentucky, were present at the meetings Tuesday and a large number of women are expected to attend the meeting of the Auxiliary Wednesday. Lunch will be served during the meetings at the parish house. Many of the visitors are being entertained in the homes of Lexington members of the church.

Campaign Starts Soon.

The campaign to raise the apportionment of the Lexington diocese for the Sewanee endowment fund will be started as soon as plans have been completely worked out and an organization effected. Colonel John R. Allen and Bishop Burton will head the campaign and W. R. Ulrich has arrived here to act as the diocesan executive secretary. Mr. Ulrich will open an office within the next few days and will remain in Lexington until the campaign is completed.

The apportionment of the diocese is $30,000, and that of Kentucky $75,000. The campaign is being conducted throughout the South and is designed to raise the endowment of Sewanee University to $1,000,000. The collection of funds has already been begun in several states.

Rotarians to Observe "University-College Day"

Program at Weekly Luncheon Devoted to City's Educational Institutions

University or College Day will be observed by the Lexington Rotary Club at the regular weekly luncheon and meeting Thursday when the entire program will be devoted to educational institutions of the city.

Crossfield, president of Transylvania College will make addresses and tell of prospects for the two institutions in Lexington, what they mean to the city and what Rotarians can do to promote the interests of the institutions.

A large attendance is expected at the meeting as a majority of business men of the city have shown more than a passing interest in the two colleges and are deeply concerned in their welfare.

Can't Stay Away From French Girls—Re-enlist

"They just can't stay away from the mademoiselles they left behind," was the statement of Sergeant Horatio Alger Hanks, the local army recruiting office, with regard to the boys who re-enlisted Tuesday for service with the A. E. F.

Edward Spaul, George C. Tunes and John C. Smith, all of Louisville, and Prentice Brown, of Lexington, all "took on" for service in the infantry in Europe, Smith going for three years, the others getting one year tickets. All the men had seen service overseas and Brown was wounded at Chateau Thierry.

With the enlistment Tuesday morning of Matthew J. Isaac, of Berea, as a private first class for recruiting duty at the local office, this station now numbers seven former commissioned men among the members of its force. All seven are under First Sergeant Luther Chasion, who served through the war as an enlisted man.

Isaac served for twenty-seven months as a captain, first with the 326th Field Artillery and later commanding the 340th Company, Military Police.

John Shell's Age Subject of Numerous Inquiries Received by Postmaster

Is John Shell "oldest man in the world," the oldest man in the world? Has he really attained the age of years?

These and questions like them poured into the office of Postmaster Jonas Kaufman Tuesday from inquirers living in New York, Illinois, and several Western states.

To each of the inquirers, Postmaster Kaufman replied that to the best of his knowledge John Shell celebrated his 131st birthday in Lexington during the Blue Grass Fair. He added that the oldest man in the world, the Methuselah, who came up from the mountains, is now telling the metropolis of Kentucky to attend the Kentucky State Fair.

Some inquirers, according to the postmaster seem to treat the Shell age as a joke, as a hoax perpetrated on the gullible public by unprincipled newspapers, but Postmaster Kaufman is determined to set each inquirer right. Several of the inquiries were made to decide bets.

ARMY STORE TO OPEN SEPT. 25

First of Two U. S. Regional Sales-houses for Kentucky Will Locate in Old Armory Here

VARIETY OF OFFERINGS

Surplus War Department supplies will be sold in the armory in Lexington beginning September 25 and continuing until Central Kentucky buyers have bought their fill, according to Captain A. G. Pederson, of the Quartermasters' Depot at Jeffersonville, Ind., who was here Tuesday to make arrangements.

Army Blankets for Sale, Kitchen Utensils at Reduced Prices, Men's Flatwear, these and other signs will be put up in the old armory when Uncle Sam establishes his first real store here.

Captain Pederson was asked the prices of the articles to be placed on sale by the War Department. He replied that no price list has been made yet, but that everything will be in readiness for business between the government and Blue Grass people by September 25. He said prices would be less than those charged here for articles of the same kind and quality.

Two in Kentucky.

The store to be established here will be known as a Regional Store. In Kentucky there will be two of these stores. The other will be located in Louisville. Captain Pederson will be in charge. Two stores also will be established in Indiana, one in Jeffersonville and the other in Indianapolis.

Supplies will be transported to Lexington from Jeffersonville, where there is a Quartermaster's Depot. Captain Pederson plans to bring merchandise here in army trucks, thus saving freight and express rates and keeping prices as low as possible.

Variety of Offerings.

United States Army blankets are known throughout the country. In addition to these articles the War Department plans to place on sale kitchen utensils, consisting of pans, pots, meat grinders, butcher knives, table knives and forks and other implements used in the army kitchen and mess hall; men's underclothing, such as was issued in the army; overalls and jumpers and shoes, probably.

The store here, according to Captain Pederson, will be continued until supplies allotted to this region are disposed of. In the event, however, that there is a run on the allotment, another will be made. It is thought the supplies will be sold out within two or three months.

McCorkle Gives Aid.

Captain Pederson arrived in Lexington from Louisville Tuesday. He called on Commissioner W. H. McCorkle, vice mayor of Lexington, in City Hall to obtain assistance in finding some place where the supplies might be placed on sale.

Acquainted with the lack of vacant storerooms as well as vacant houses in Lexington, Commissioner McCorkle suggested the armory. Accompanied by the vice mayor Captain Pederson called on Captain J. R. Sams, who is in charge of the armory, and obtained sanction to use it as a salesroom for the army merchandise.

Mrs. Nannie G. Faulconer, county school superintendent, said Tuesday night that while it was impossible to give figures on the enrollment in the county the attendance at every school is showing a material increase over that of the previous year.

One of the problems confronting teachers, Mrs. Faulconer said, was finding a place to board, but it is planned to overcome this difficulty in many cases by finding rooms for the teachers who will do light housekeeping.

Electric fans were hot favorites Tuesday and palm beach wearers got another day's comfort from their "ice cream" suits as the thermometer here wiped its perspiring forehead and muttered: "Ninety-two degrees, by heck."

"And," the thermometer added, "this is the highest I've climbed on September 9 since 1897, when I touched one degree higher."

Mamma's boy—the squirrel who rushes the season—rang the bell on straw derbies during the recent cold spell, but he seemed delighted to climb in under his light lid Tuesday, approaching fall or no approaching fall.
