"Empty Stocking Elf" to Be Presented Twice

The Girls' Community Club at Duncan Park, under the direction of Miss Bertha Miller and Miss Grace Cruickshank, will present "The Empty Stocking Elf" in the Junior High school gymnasium, on December 21 at 7:30 p. m. The admission will be 10 cents, and the proceeds of the play are to be used toward the Christmas celebration at Duncan Park, and towards furnishing the Girls' Club room.

On Saturday night, Christmas Eve, at 8 o'clock, the club will repeat the play at Duncan Park, in conjunction with the Community Christmas tree for the benefit of the children who will be invited to the festivities connected with the tree. When the "Empty Stocking Elf" was chosen as a good Christmas play several parts were found that needed to be filled by boys, and when this fact was made known, there were more applicants than could be used. Miss Miller announces that the leading parts are to be taken by picked talent, and the performance promises to be a good one.

The following stars are featured:

Empty Stocking Elf	Richard Anderson
Mr. Santa Claus	Aubrey Moorfield
Mrs. Santa Claus	Florence Rogers
Unky-Punky	Jack Humphrey
Rumperstilkerchen	William West

"The Messiah" to Be Presented by First Methodist Choir

The world's most famous oratorio, "The Messiah," by George Handel, will be given by the choir of the First Methodist Episcopal church the Sunday evening of December 18 for the evening service. The 35 voices, accompanied by the organ and two pianos will be directed by Mr. Robert Millard Russell, choir master.

This wonderful story of the birth of our Savior, the Christmas story as told in the Gospels, will be presented in the realm of music, the oratorio, composed of the greatest known choruses and solos, a truly inspired musical setting of this grand Christmas theme.

This is the second annual presentation of the great work by this choir. The music committee of the church requests those of the audience who have the score of "The Messiah" to bring it with them, that they may more easily follow the music.

The choir singers are:

Soloists

Sopranos—Mrs. Ralph McCracken, Miss Margaret Frances Scott.

Tenor—Mrs. G. E. Broyles.

Alto—Mrs. Horace Sawin.

Basses—Mr. Sudduth Goff, Mrs. T. M. Riley.

Choir

Sopranos—Miss Mary Helen Boone, Miss Lucille Dunn, Miss Elizabeth Dye, Miss Vera Eubanks, Miss Elizabeth Frohman, Mrs. A. D. Gasser, Miss Ethel Griffin, Mrs. J. D. Kendall, Mrs. Katherine Merchant, Mrs. Ralph McCracken, Miss Ruth Preston Neale, Miss Beatrice Ogden, Miss Margaret Frances Scott, Mrs. Paul Williams.

Tenors—Mr. S. J. Amato, Mrs. C. E. Broyles, Mr. E. M. Heavrin, Mr. Claude Patton, Mr. H. M. Russell.

Altos—Mrs. Cornelius Deweese, Miss Maria Elliott, Miss Mary Olive McKee, Miss Gladys Ogden, Mrs. William Rabe, Mrs. Horace Sawin, Miss Alice Tague, Mrs. W. C. Tucker.

Basses—Mr. Elbert DeCoursey, Mr. Sudduth Goff, Mr. L. B. Henry, Mr. Roy Johnstone, Mr. G. A. LaFranna, Mr. J. W. McDonald, Mr. T. M. Riley, Mr. C. S. Tucker, Mr. Rothwell Woodward.

Organist—Miss Mildred Sinclair Lewis.

Pianists—Miss Edith Ross, Mrs. Edwin Oldham, Mrs. Willis Burke.

Director—Mr. Robert Millard Russell.

Music Committee—Messrs. J. L. Watkins, J. C. Shuck, M. L. Harris.

Special mention should also be made of the morning service, which will be a Christmas service, sermon by Rev. H. C. Horton. The choir will sing two special numbers, "Shout the Glad Tidings," by Hawley, and the new work fantasia, "Angel Voices Ever Singing," by Edward Shippen Barnes.

This Fantasia by Mr. Barnes, president of the American Guild of Organists, was written at the special request of the Organ Players' Club of Philadelphia, of which Mr. Barnes is a member. This organization is one of the oldest in the country. They were planning a recital of music by members of the club and asked him for a piece in which the organ and the chorus would have equally important parts. The piece was written, published and performed in a little over a month. It was first sung, with the composer at the organ, at the recital above mentioned in the First Baptist church, Philadelphia, the voice parts being taken by a choir made up from several Philadelphia choirs. The importance of the organ part accounts for the long introduction, and the themes developed in this introduction later appear in the voice parts. The "Introduction" will be played by Miss Mildred Lewis, organist, and Mrs. Edwin Oldham, pianist, on the Offertory.

Children at Orphans' Home to Give Mother Goose Drama

A Mother Goose fantasy will be presented on Christmas Eve by the children in the Orphans Home on Short street, under the direction of Miss Anna Pherigo. The play concerns itself with the assistance given Santa Claus by the Mother Goose people and the only difficulty that presented itself in the early rehearsals was that every one wanted to be Santa Claus—although that part was finally given to Catherine Brewer with brownies and walking dolls and other toys as assistants. Other parts are:

Mary, Mary quite Contrary	Mary Thompson
Miss Muffett	Edna Morris
Bo Peep	Mary Armstrong
Jack Horner	Bill Thompson
Boy Blue	Russell Wiede
Jack and Jill	Ernest Wiede and Ruby Armstrong
Simple Simon	Eugene Cunningham
Old Mother Hubbard	Gladys Thompson
